

We The People...

To the Editor:

The members of the Millbury Awareness Group and those citizens of Millbury who support efforts for a clean environment, would like to extend their thanks and appreciation to Ackerley Communications Inc. and Mr. Vince Bocalini of Ackerley, for their assistance in providing us with a billboard on Route 146. This billboard enabled us to publicize our concerns in a cause deemed to be just and in the best interests of a number of people in our town.

In these times, when people are confronted with problems they feel they have little power over, and do not have the means to engage an attorney to address these grievances, they have little recourse.

Ackerley Communications saw fit to help us convey our message and were instrumental, we feel, in helping us get our message across, not only to the citizens of Millbury, but to all who care about a clean and safe environment.

There is something to be learned from this, and what we have learned is that billboard advertising is very effective. A prerequisite in advertising is that you elicit response, positive or negative, it doesn't matter. To be ignored is deadly, and we have not been ignored as the results would indicate.

The majority of the reactions were favorable and, although there was some negative input, it proves the point that people were reached. People do not react unless they have been reached.

The Millbury Awareness Group has never been anti-business, only pro clean environment for a decent quality of life for all Millbury residents.

Ackerley Communications have proved themselves to be effective, public spirited, civic minded, and attuned to the people.

They are to be commended, and we take this opportunity to do just that.

MILLBURY SELECTMEN'S MEETING DIGEST

Highway Surveyor Discusses Sidewalk Reconstruction

By Edward J. Cooney

SEPTEMBER 8, 1987

The Meeting opened with a report from Administrator, Earl Chase. Chase stated that the initial fire-up of the incinerator at Signal Resco, now Wheelabrator, will be on Thursday, September, 10th, and the Board of Health was so notified.

Each board member was given a copy of the State Sanitary Code for review. Chase stated that issues of accepting sewage from other communities at the Upper Blackstone Sewage Treatment Plant will be discussed at the next Board of Health meeting.

Chase then informed the Selectmen that Steve Couture, the representative for the Highway Department Union, had told him that an article pertaining to seniority had been left out of the amendment to the recently negotiated and signed contract.

Board members were not sure that the issue had been voted on by the Selectmen even though there was some discussion and agreement, in principle, during contract negotiations. It was suggested that Chase ask Couture to submit, in writing, the specific language that he is referring to the Board for consideration and review.

Under "Dates to Remember", Board Chairman, Jude Cristo, reminded his colleagues that interviews would be held on Wednesday, September 9th, with four remaining bidders for the design contract for the heating, ventilating, and air conditioning system at the Town Hall.

Under "Old Business", appointments were deferred to the next meeting to interview a candidate for the Personnel Board.

The Board accepted, with regret, the resignation of Norman Saucier from the Millbury Housing Authority.

The Resource Recovery Plant is planning an initial firing-up of the boilers this Thursday or Friday, according to Cristo.

The Board then met with Town Highway Surveyor, Joe Chase, to discuss and approve the bids submitted for sand, gravel, emulsion mix and bituminous concrete.

The Selectmen voted unanimously to award sand, gravel and stone to B.N.T. Gravel. The bituminous concrete contract was awarded to Granger Lynch Co. Emulsion and emulsion mix was awarded to All State Asphalt, and the aluminum pipe contract to Kent Culvert Co.

The Board also discussed with Chase the only bid received for the sidewalk reconstruction of Water Street, Vallone Construction at a bid of $50,000. Chase explained that the cost included installing concrete curbing which increased the price.

Several Board members stated that they felt the sidewalk program would never be finished if prices were at that level. The bid for $50,000 was tabled until Selectmen have an opportunity to meet with the Planning Board. They will discuss the regulations for sidewalk construction in new sub-divisions, under zoning by-laws.

It was the opinion of the Highway Surveyor that asphalt berms could be installed at a cheaper rate. Chase explained that his department had a berm machine, making it possible to maintain and repair asphalt berms. Chase also informed the Board that he anticipates, in the next fiscal year, including a request for two additional workers to give the Department the ability to be a construction department and not just a maintenance and repair department. He also noted that a back-hoe would be a necessity in accomplishing such a goal.

At 8:00 p.m., the Selectmen met with Susan Bradley, Assistant Dog Officer. Mrs. Bradley was present, at the request of the Board, to discuss her position as Assistant and her working relationship with Dog Officer, George Royal.

During the discussion and questioning by members of the Board, it was noted that there was a need for more communication between the dog officer and the assistant. The Selectmen also encouraged Mrs. Bradley to submit vouchers for the work she had done and to seek assistance from Earl Chase in completing forms.

Adams also suggested that she acquire a receipt from Tufts New England Veterinary Medical Center when she delivers a dog for services in order to protect herself from any possible liability.

Returning to "Old Business", the Board was informed by Chase that the egress from the off-street parking lot will be ready as soon as signs regulating traffic from the parking facility are installed.

Work on expanding the parking at the Asa Waters Mansion is expected to begin as soon as the off-street parking egress is completed.

SELECTMEN EYE GAS PIPELINE INSTALLATION

By Karen Potter

SUTTON. Convening the September 23rd Selectmen's Meeting at 8:05 p.m., Chairman John Reed noted that all members were present except Carl Licopoli. The minutes of the previous meeting were accepted without objection.

- The first item of business on the agenda was the reading of two formal proclamations. One was Governor Dukakis' declaration of the week of September 25th through October 4th as Blackstone Valley Heritage Homecoming Week, commemorating the regional pride of the residents of the Blackstone Valley. The second proclamation recognized the service to fellow men by declaring the week of September 20th as Emergency Medical Technician Week.

- Adding two recommendations, the Board unanimously voted to approve the list of some 20 proposed sites for installation of new stop signs. The signs, recommended by Police Chief Conley, will be installed as soon as the list has cleared the prescribed bureaucratic channels. It was noted that this action takes advantage of newly granted powers returned to cities and towns by the state and county governments.

- During his visit with the Selectmen two weeks ago, Housing Authority Chairman, Richard LaBonte, requested establishment of a housing committee to study and guide the concept of a low/moderate income housing development in Sutton. At that time, LaBonte submitted a list of possible candidates to serve on such a committee. The Selectmen, having reviewed this list and spoken to one or two of the named individuals, agreed to review it for two more weeks. John Reed suggested that the Selectmen go over the criteria outlined by the EOCD (Economic Office for Communities and Development) and come up with some names of their own to complement the list.

- It was reported by Reed that Highway Superintendent, Raymond Smith, intends to make road repairs, before Winter, in the following locations: Dodge Road, Wheelock Road, Eight Lots Road, and Hartness Road.

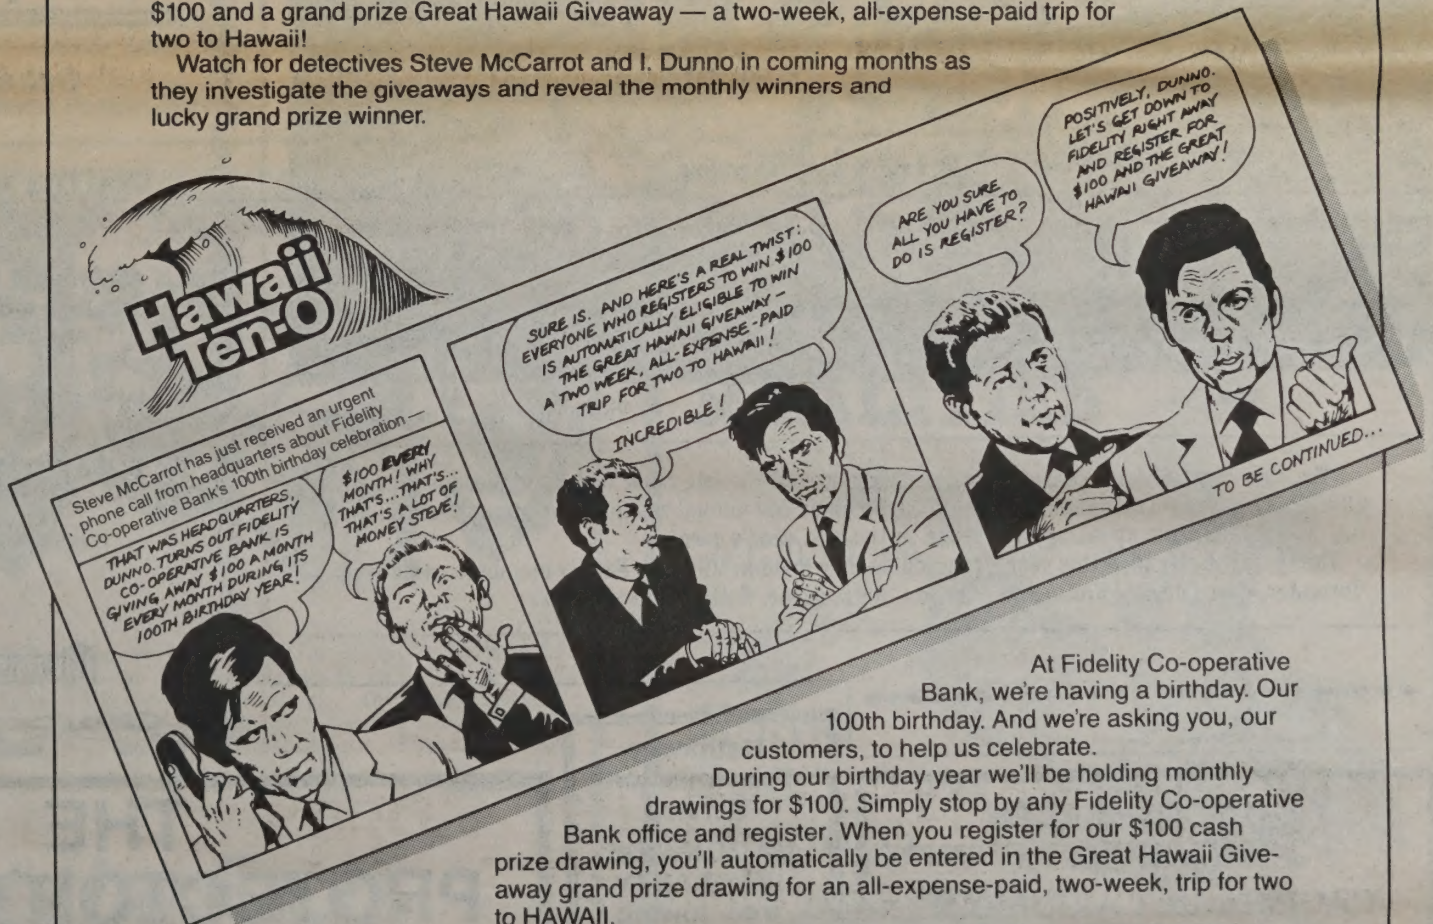

- Serious discussion, before, during, and after the meeting, centered around recent attempts by the Tennessee Gas Pipeline Company (TENECO) to fix the exact location of a pipeline extension through several Blackstone communities on its way to Rhode Island. Selectman, Mike Chizy, has been contacted by several residents from Sutton seeking information and assistance about the pathway being proposed over their properties. Having recently been called upon by company officials, residents are alarmed that, if they do not agree to TENECO's terms regarding placement of and compensation for easements, the company can and will take the property by eminent domain under powers granted by the federal government. Chizy and Wally Johnson spoke strongly to the issue, and it was agreed that the Selectmen would invite TENECO representatives to the September 22nd Selectmen's meeting to respond to the concerns of area residents.

While Chizy's calls to Representative Moore's office have not been returned, Chizy said he would urge those who are concerned to call Moore themselves.

Altrusa International, Inc. was the first international service organization with a diversified membership of professional and executive women who are leaders in their field.

With this base, the Altrusa Club of Worcester was founded in 1938 by a group of women committed to coordinating leadership talents and amplifying individual efforts into a significant voluntary force to improve the quality of life within Worcester County. AROUN' THE TOWN & GOLDEN AGERS UPDATE

By Lillian C. Sheehan

It's good to be back (It's GREAT to have you back, Lillian - Ed.). Many thanks to all you nice people for the cards, prayers and good wishes. Good health is something we all take for granted until it fails us, and only then do we realize how very precious it really is!!!

MILLBURY GOLDEN AGE CLUB

Roland and Anita Whiterell are all set for their trip to Pennsylvania Dutch country and advise all those going to be at St. Brigid's parking lot, ready to start, at 7:00 a.m. sharp. All those who will not have their baggage tickets by then will get them that morning. One bag per person for under the bus and whatever hand luggage is needed may be taken aboard.

Because of the trip, the Tuesday meeting on September 22nd may be cancelled. Check before coming out for nothing.

Best wishes for speedy recoveries to the members out recently because of ill health!!

Bea Tift is planning a day trip in the not too distant future. Details about that later.

ST. BRIGID'S WOMEN'S CLUB

Program books for St. Brigid's Women's Club are ready for distribution and the year promises to be an interesting one. The first item on the Agenda is the Apple Fest-Mini Fair which will officially open the Club year in October. Be prepared to participate in this activity.

WIT AND WISDOM

- "Wrinkles should merely show where the smiles have been."
- "A reckless drier is one who passes you, no matter how hard you try to outrace him."
- "Some folks like work so much they sit and look at it for hours."
- "Opportunity often knocks, but it has never been known to turn the key and walk in."

Worcester Auxiliary Police Seeking New Members

WORCESTER. The Worcester Auxiliary Police have announced that the unit will begin an extensive recruitment campaign for new members. The organization is a volunteer unit used to augment the police department in times of emergency and for special details at the request of the chief of police. They are currently providing special security and vandalism patrols in the city parks and assisting in the current crackdown on illegal dumping in the parks.

It is hoped that the recruitment drive will provide additional manpower to continue to expand these and other programs. New recruits must undergo extensive screening prior to acceptance, then successfully complete an extensive training program before being allowed to work.

The unit, once seventy-plus members strong, has shrunk to less than half that size in recent years as many of the original members of the forty-year-old organization have reached retirement age; and as the training requirements have become much more extensive in recent years due to the increasing concern about liability in the law enforcement field.

Any person interested is asked to contact the training division of the Worcester Police Department for more information or an application.

Arthur Miller's Death of a Salesman is "junk". William Faulkner's As I Lay Dying contains "offensive and obscene passages referring to abortion." Cinderella, The Wizard of Oz, and Macbeth mention magic and therefore challenge the beliefs of fundamentalist christians.

Books like these, challenged or banned on similar grounds during the past year, will be displayed at the Millbury Public Library throughout National Banned Books Week 1987 - Celebrating the Freedom to Read, September 19-26. Most of these books are well-known but are considered dangerous or objectionable by individuals or groups who would deny others access to them.

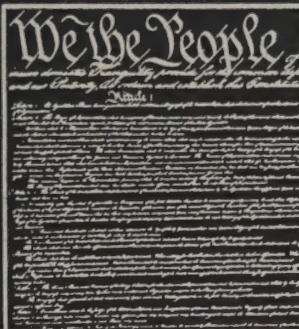

Other books challenged recently are: John Steinbeck's Grapes of Wrath, because the "book is full of filth"; J.D. Salinger's Catcher in the Rye, because of "sexual humanism"; and William Steig's The Amazing Bone, because a parent objected to the "use of tobacco by the animals."

One of the most frequently challenged books this year is Shel Silverstein's A Light in the Attic, a book of children's poetry, which faced challenges for several different reasons. The book encourages "children to be disobedient" and it promotes "behavior abusive to women and children, suicide as a way to manipulate parents, mockery of God, and selfish and disrespectful behavior."

The Millbury Public Library is participating in Banned Books Week 1987 - Celebrating the Freedom to Read, which is co-sponsored by the American

It is endorsed by The Center for the Book of the Library of Congress. The sponsoring organizations believe most would-be censors act with what they consider to be the highest motivation - protecting themselves, their families, and communities from perceived injustices and evils and preserving the values and ideals they would have the entire society embrace. The result, however, is always the denial of another's right to read. The Millbury Public Library believes that Americans support our basic right to read as guaranteed in the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

The Millbury Public Library invites the community to come to the Library to view the display dedicated to Banned Books Week 1987.

Letter from George Washington Donated to Museum

UXBRIDGE. A two-hundred year old letter written by President George Washington to the Taft family of Uxbridge, in appreciation for their hospitality during his stay at the Taft Tavern on Sutton Street, has been donated to the Blackstone River and Canal Heritage State Park by Mrs. Mildred Goss of Mendon. The announcement of the gift was made at a reception at the Massachusetts Archives by Rep. Richard T. Moore (D-Uxbridge), chairman of the Blackstone River and Canal Commission. The Archives Reception was sponsored by the Blackstone Valley Heritage Homecoming Corporation to kick off a month-long display at the Archives foyer highlighting the historic importance of the Blackstone Valley.

In making her donation, Mrs. Goss stated, "This original letter was handed down to my late husband, Carlton, through his mother, Cora Taft Goss, daughter of Dandridge Taft of Uxbridge. I have also enclosed a copy of the response written by Mercy ("Patty") Taft to President Washington, the original of which is in the Smithsonian Institution. I know my late husband would like to see these letters preserved with historical items in the Heritage State Park Visitors Center Museum and also that the letter would finally go back to Uxbridge."

Rep. Moore, in acknowledging the gift, praised Mrs. Goss for her generosity and the Goss family's interest in "preserving an important piece of the Valley's and the Nation's history." He expressed the hope that others with historic letters, photos, maps, clothing or furnishings from the Valley's past might also consider making such gifts, bequests, or permanent loans to the Heritage State Park's museum. Another Valley resident, who collects antiques, has already donated several antique farm and factory tools for the park.

The letter from President Washington to the Tafts reads, "Being informed that you have given my name to one of your sons, and called another after Mrs. Washington's family, and being moreover much pleased with the modest and innocent looks of your daughters, Patty and Polly, I do for these reasons send each of these girls a piece of chintz; and to Patty, who bears the name of Mrs. Washington, and who waited more upon us than Polly did, I send five guineas, with which she may buy herself any little ornaments she may want, or she may dispose of them in any other manner more agreeable to herself. As I do not give these things with a view to have it talked of, or even to its being known, the less there is said about the matter the better you will please me; but that I may be sure the chintz and money have got safe to hand, let Patty, who I dare say is equal to it, write me a line informing me thereof, directed to 'The President of the United States, New York'. I wish you and your family well, and am your humble servant." - G. Washington.

There is also an interesting story behind Washington's visit to the area and how he came to the Taft residence instead of the Mendon Inn operated by his friend, Captain Philip Amidon. That story is retold in the newly published Blackstone Valley Banner Tour brochure prepared for Heritage Homecoming by Susan P. Shea of North Smithfield, R.I. This brochure will be released at the beginning of the celebration on September 25th.

- Street light upgrading requests at Woodland Street and on Holman Road were deferred until a report is received from the Safety Officer.

- A request for a "Go Slow" sign on Forrest Drive was also referred to the Safety Officer for recommendations.

- According to Earl Chase, bids for the dog kennel have not gone out as yet.

- The Board discussed a legal opinion concerning Dwinell Road. Adams moved to forward to an abutter a letter indicating that although the county engineers have stated that Dwinell Road was reconstituted as a public way, the opinion of the Town Counsel indicates that the status of Dwinell Road is that of a private street.

The Board voted 5-0 to support Adams motion.

- The Selectmen met with Police Chief, George Brady, voting 5-0 to move to Executive Session to discuss "deployment" of personnel in the Police Department.

- Upon returning to public meeting, the Board moved to "New Business" and voted 5-0 to grant and approve a permit to Commonwealth Gas for a street opening on Rhodes Street, Waters Court, and 229 Millbury Ave., noting that the work was already completed.

- Mid-State Sewage was granted a permit to open Elm Street for a drainage connection to the town's drainage system.

A request from Linda Marshall for a speed sign on Gover Road was referred to the Safety Officer for a recommendation.

- The Agenda being completed, the Board turned to reading correspondence received.

Clerk, Donald Gauthier, read a letter from Dudley Bowker, President of Millbury Savings Bank, commending the Police Department and especially Officer Edward Perry, for recovering stolen checks worth $2,560.

Gauthier also read a letter from the law firm of Talcott, Cosgrove and Sawyer, citing bills outstanding owed by the Town of Millbury, totaling $26,000, for work performed in 1985 and '86 but not previously presented to the Town for payment.

Adams suggested that Chase check to see if duplication may have occurred in charges for legal services. Chase noted that he had looked at previous invoices and couldn't see any duplication. "It looks like we owe them money," said Chase.

The Board voted 5-0 to approve a request for salary adjustments for part-time non-union workers as requested by the Board of Health.

Gauthier informed his colleagues that correspondence had been received concerning previous litigation filed against the town by George Kane et al.

The Selectmen voted 5-0 to move to Executive Session to discuss the matter, voting that upon completion the meeting would be adjourned.

Heritage Homecoming To Honor Members of Congress

UXBRIDGE. Six members of the United States Congress will be honored during Heritage Homecoming '87 for their leadership in gaining Congressional approval late last year of legislation designating the "Blackstone River Valley National Heritage Corridor" from Worcester, Massachusetts to Providence, Rhode Island.

The Blackstone Valley Heritage Homecoming Corporation has chosen to honor United States Senators Edward M. Kennedy and John F. Kerry of Massachusetts and Claiborne Pell and John H. Chafee of Rhode Island; Congressmen Joseph D. Early of Massachusetts and Fernand D. St. Germain of Rhode Island. They will be presented with the 1987 Heritage Homecoming President's Award for Distinguished Service to the Blackstone Valley at the First Annual Banquet and Awards Night on October 3rd at Pleasant Valley Country Club in Sutton.

The Blackstone Valley National Heritage Corridor designation is only the second to be created in the country. Chicago's Michigan and Illinois Canal was the first corridor designated about three years ago.

The designation brings limited Federal funding - up to $350,000 per year, technical assistance from the U.S. National Park Service, establishment of a two-state commission to coordinate historic preservation, environmental planning and economic development along the Blackstone River, and national recognition as the birthplace of America's Industrial Revolution. Over the next ten years, this Federal effort combined with the substantial commitments from both Massachusetts and Rhode Island are expected to significantly enhance the economy and quality of life in the Valley.

Tickets for the awards banquet are available from Heritage Homecoming Committee members or by contacting Blackstone Valley Heritage Homecoming, P.O. Box 174, Uxbridge, MA 01569.

"Friends" To Meet On September 23rd

MILLBURY. The annual meeting of the Friends of the Millbury Public Library will be held on Wednesday, September 23rd. The meeting will take place at 7:00 p.m. in the Delia Chapin Torrey Room on the lower level of the Library.

This is an opportune time for new members to actively participate in the organization.

MILLBURY'S FINANCE COMMITTEE

"Personal opinions are quickly put out and displaced by what's in the best interest of the town."

If small town government is to function, it must rely on the good will of its citizens to fill critical positions which are necessary for the operation of the community. For their time, effort, and expertise, these public servants receive insultingly little by way of monetary compensation, inadequate praise, and almost no positive recognition. In spite of this, it seems that there are always a few hardy individuals who agree to serve in an effort to contribute to the well-being of the town. Of all the committees, the one which receives the least attention, yet is chartered to serve an extremely important function, is the Finance Committee.

Millbury's Finance Committee is presently made up of six members: Gerald Bleau, Chairman; Alan Marble, Clerk; and Members Jane Jung, Richard Jacques, Fred Williams, and Leonard Lawson. It is a committee which receives little recognition by the voters in spite of the fact that it is charged with very serious responsibilities that few are aware of. An explanation of the committee's duties, states, "The committee should be involved in every policy decision which the town faces and be personal advisor to the voters. It should make recommendations on the school budget, on all other budgets, on special articles and on referenda....no finance committee should duck any important questions. It should question the specialist committee like a serious voter would, to see how sound its facts are and how thorough its study has been." In short, the duties of the committee are as Gerald Bleau stated, "to be the conscience of the voters. We act as a check and balance to study each budget and question those inclusions which we feel require some questioning."

While the Finance Committee does not have the power of most town committees, it does have the responsibility to make recommendations on all articles that are submitted at town meetings. Because the scope of the committee is so broad, the members feel that it is critical that communication must be improved between them and other town committees and departments.

In explaining the role of the finance committee, Jerry Bleau explained, "Millbury had a budget close to $11 million last year. Six million of that was the school budget. Most of the monies, perhaps as much as 80% or 90%, are spent on salaries and most of those are dictated by union contracts. We really have little to say on those, but we do have the authority to disperse money in the reserve fund on a majority vote. Essentially, we are a recommending and investigating body." All departments are required to submit their budgets to the Finance Committee which then meets the department heads if any clarification is needed.

"We depend on key people: the Selectmen, the Administrative Assistant, the Town Clerk, the Highway Surveyor, the Treasurer, the Auditor, the Police Chief, the Fire Chief, and, of course the School Department. This group of people is the group we speak to the most," Bleau said.

"Some budgets don't need much discussion," Jane Jung stated, "like the Town Moderator's and the Memorial Day budgets. They remain more or less constant."

"There might be a small increase but it's usually so small and so infrequent that we know it's justified," Bleau added.

On the surface, it appears that the Finance Committee has an easy job; meet department heads, check budgets, and make recommendations. Nothing could be further from the truth. Two main problems fall into closely related categories: time and communication. Because the committee must make recommendations at the Annual Town Meeting, they must examine and decide on all department budgets and this entails first receiving departmental budgets, then studying them and meeting with the principals of each department. "Time is a major constraint," Bleau said, "This year we received the last budget only two weeks before town meeting. All budgets, according to by-laws, should be submitted by December 15th. We never get them in December although the school department makes a good faith effort to get us a projected budget shortly after the first of the year. The budget will be revised through their process, but it is helpful as a guide."

The committee can only make informed judgments when they have all the facts and have time to study and digest them. However, they feel frustrated when they cannot get budgets and information on complex items requiring their recommendation until shortly before the town meeting. This does not allow them time enough to study them closely.

The committee takes its responsibility very seriously and earnestly wants to discharge that responsibility as well as it can. The Committee is in the process of formulating plans and schedules which, they hope, will improve lines of communication and which will offer them the time which they need for deliberations. "Sometimes it appears that some departments don't submit their budgets deliberately so that we can't get any information before the town meeting," Bleau said. "Our goal is to publish the (town) book early enough so that it can get out to the residents."

Another facet of the communication process which the committee feels is important is the questioning and deliberation process. "We would like to inform the town as we are deliberating and studying issues so that the residents could know not just what our conclusions and recommendations are, but how and why we arrived at them." The inability to communicate this information to the residents has resulted in a great deal of frustration because the committee will often recommend a certain action only to have it reversed at town meeting. It is felt that if the residents understood what the committee's rationale was for a recommendation, the townspeople could attend town meetings with more knowledge about each article. Jane Jung expressed the committee's concern saying, "As the town meeting lingers on, residents become more impatient, as we all do, and certain issues never get the thorough hearing that we get at our meetings." The committee hopes to be able to communicate their deliberations to the residents earlier and in a more public forum.

The issue of communication is much broader than simply the committee presenting its position. The Finance Committee is troubled that three of the seats on the committee are vacant. Mrs. Jung explained, "We have to deal with each department or the originator of the article, and many times we're working in the dark because we have limited knowledge of the issue. It would help if we could attract more residents to serve on the committee - residents with different backgrounds so we could draw on their expertise and their knowledge."

The committee extends an invitation to any resident who has an interest in the community to call Town Moderator, Janice Dawson, and ask to be placed on the committee. "It's not necessary that a member have a knowledge of finances to serve on the committee," Bleau said. In fact, the ideal committee would be one composed of members from a variety of constituencies - people from different parts of town, different ages, different career backgrounds, etc. And it's not essential that only those driven by community spirit need apply. As Dick Jacques stated, "I first got on because I was curious as to how the town and town government ran. Not only have I served with very interesting and intelligent people, but I've learned how the town functions."

The members of the committee appear to enjoy one another and the work that they do. As they met and talked, there was a comfortable sense of cooperation and respect, making the dialogue lively and candid. It is in this spirit that this committee functions. According to Mrs. Jung, "Some people think we're obstructionist, but we honestly try to think as a body offering different perspectives but with the interest of the town first. We feel that it is our responsibility to determine what is in the best interest for the greatest number of people."

Fred Williams added, "Personal opinions are quickly put out and displaced by what's in the best interest of the town."

The Transfer Station issue is an example of how the committee functions. Before Town Meeting, there was considerable debate centering around curbside pick-up vs. a transfer station. "We never were strongly opposed to anything," Mrs. Jung said. "We just wanted to gather information so we could make an informed decision. Sometimes, we get the feeling that we're playing "devil's advocate", but when we gathered all of the information and discovered that those towns that had it (curbside pickup) experienced a lot of problems, not to mention dramatic increases in cost, we decided that it wasn't for Millbury."

"Our desire is to be as informed as we can be about anything going on in town. The information flow we find is not as good as it could be, and we'd like to see that improve," Bleau said. "We would like to co-operate more with the departments to get that information."

"There's probably a wealth of information and expertise in the community, and we'd like those who have it to share it with us. We can't be experts in every area and we need that input," Mrs. Jung added.

"We want the Selectmen to know that we want to work closer with them and share information so we can make better decisions. We want them to know that we are available for cooperation not confrontation," Williams explained.

The committee is sincere in its desire not only to serve the town but to cooperate with town committees. It feels that if information is shared by everyone, then a lot of duplication of effort can be avoided, and the town will be run more efficiently. The committee members feel a sense of frustration at giving time and energy only to have it ignored. But within this sense is a more positive sense articulated in part by Fred Williams. "We all feel that we're providing a valuable service to the town, and we feel that ultimately we can have an impact if we keep pounding away. If we didn't feel this way, we wouldn't meet 3-4 hours sometimes 2 or 3 nights a week."

Dick Jacques mirrored Williams comments adding, "The most frustrating part of our job is putting in 30 or 40 hours studying an issue and having our recommendation overruled in an instant at a town meeting."

Jerry Bleau explained that the Finance Committee is committed to the residents of the town. "We're the balance," he stated, "When someone wants $5,000 more in their budget, we feel they have to explain the reasons to someone so another voice will be heard."

It is in that spirit that the committee is working on improving all lines of communication so they, other departments and committees, and most importantly the residents, can be informed about all sides of all issues. The members hope that more residents of all ages and from all backgrounds who are interested in town government come forward and join them on what they feel is a critical committee. Their job is demanding and sometimes frustrating, but the personal sense of satisfaction at making a genuine contribution to the town is substantial.

Apple Pie

Contest

SUTTON. Get out the rolling pins, start peeling the apples, and get your arms and hands in shape to create the best apple pie the Blackstone Valley has ever tasted. An Apple Pie Baking Contest will be held in conjunction with Blackstone Valley Heritage Homecoming Week. Sponsored by "Anonymous Woman" at Sutton Square Plaza, the contest will be held on Saturday, September 26th, between the hours of 10:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m.

Pies will be registered upon arrival at Sutton Square between 10:00 a.m. and 1:00 p.m. Judging will take place between 1:00 and 2:00 p.m.

All pies and plates become the property of the Homecoming committee and will be auctioned off at the end of the contest.

The following prizes will be awarded: First Prize, $50.00; Second Prize, $20.00; Third Prize, $10.00. Two Honorable Mentions will also be awarded.

(This contest is open to all great cooks (men, women, and children) in the Blackstone Valley but, quite frankly, we at the Chronicle think the best cooks live in Millbury and Sutton. The Publisher of the Chronicle has volunteered to test-taste all the pies but will, instead, be relegated to the task of photographing the winners - AND WE CERTAINLY HOPE THERE WILL BE SOMEONE FROM MILLBURY AND/OR SUTTON AMONG THE WINNERS!)

For further information, contact "Anonymous Woman" at 865-4730.

KINDERGARTEN SCREENING

The Millbury Public Schools will be conducting Kindergarten Screening during the week of September 21st. The purpose of the screening is to identify children in need of Special Education Services. The screening will involve a brief check of each child's development in the areas of speech and language, hearing, vision and motor learning skills.

An Orientation Program for parents of Kindergarten children will be held on Monday, September 21st, at 7:30 p.m. at Elmwood Street School. Specialists will be available to discuss the kindergarten screening process and childhood development issues.

All interested parents are invited to attend.

School Committee Agenda To Be Posted In Town

In an attempt to stimulate more interest in the Millbury school system and the decision-making process, the Millbury School Connection will be posting the School Committee's Agenda in the following places: Millbury National Bank, Millbury Savings Bank (main office), Fidelity Co-operative Bank, Happy's Restaurant, Goretti's Market, and the Millbury Public Library.

We would like to thank these establishments for their efforts in promoting community awareness.

The agenda is also posted in the Town Hall and in all school offices. The meetings are held regularly on the first and third Wednesday evening at 7:30 p.m. in the High School Library.

PV GOLF: The PGA Tour Caddie

By Bill Lucey

SUTTON. Last week the Professional Golfer's Association (PGA) tour made its annual stop at Pleasant Valley Country Club. Thousands of New Englanders ventured out to the green hills to watch the game's greatest players in the Bank of Boston classic. These professional golfers must face the challenge of the golf course and the rest of the field, all on their own. There are no teammates in golf, and that is what makes it the great game it is.

Although not considered a teammate, there is an individual alongside the golfer every step of the way playing a major role in the golfer's round. This individual is the professional tour caddie. The average golf fan does not realize how important the caddie is to the player; he does much more than simply carry the bag.

Golf, like many of us who play the game know, is a game of inches. Professional players take the course yardage very seriously. They want to know the precise length of every shot, even a short chip shot. The caddie's major responsibility is to know these measurements. During the practice rounds, caddies can be seen stepping off every inch of the course. They measure the lengths of the greens and tees and they use landmarks, like large rocks and funny-looking trees, to step off the yardage to the greens. In addition, they measure the exact location of the hole on the green. These measurements, not only of Pleasant Valley, but of every course they play all year, are kept and analyzed quite thoroughly year in and year out.

Proper club selection is the most important and difficult part of a golfer's strategy in playing a good round. Even though the final decision is the player's, the caddie provides plenty of advice. The golfer may be unsure of which club to use, but not the caddie.

Golf, if you wish to be successful, requires many hours of practice. No professional athlete takes practice more seriously than the golfer. Even after a tournament round, on a putting green or on a driving range, players practice for hours. The caddie is responsible, most of the time, for cleaning clubs and retrieving balls during these sessions. How well a caddie performs these duties results in how good a golfer they work for.

Obviously, the better the golfer, the more money a caddie will make. Modern golf tournament purses are extremely lucrative. Some golfers earn, or I should say, win, more money than others. Much more! Most golfers pay caddies a base salary for the week plus a percentage of the winnings. It is believed that some caddies do better financially than most of the average players.

The lifestyles of tour caddies vary greatly. Many are conservative, spending most of the week in their hotel rooms reading and watching TV. Others like to take in the sites of the different cities they visit. Local taverns are also a popular spot. I met several at the local "watering hole" on Saturday after the golf was over. Several patrons and I engaged in a friendly but heated joust over the Michigan/Notre Dame Football game. Jeff, Scott Verplank's caddie, is a Michigan native and took offense to my cheers for the Fighting Irish.

Travel is a major part of the tour caddie's life. How well one does financially during the week determines what mode of transportation will be used to get to the next tournament. Some can afford to fly; others must drive, sometimes cross country. Those who don't own automobiles try to car pool. This is why only the good caddies can go overseas and to the Hawaiian tournaments, the most enjoyable events of the year.

Living arrangements are determined by financial stability also. Some stay at fancy hotels, others stay at average places. A large number of them have motor homes. One group that comes to Pleasant Valley rents out a cottage on Singletary Lake; local friends quite often play host, too.

The relationship between the tour caddies is very friendly. Considering the different personalities and lifestyles, as well as job competition, one might assume that a tense situation would exist. This is not the case at all. Caddies are continuously helping each other find better jobs and better living arrangements, in addition to sharing their experiences in learning the "ropes" of the tour life. They also wish each other luck in the tournaments.

Like any profession, it takes time to become an accomplished tour caddie. Many of the modern day caddies have been doing it for years. They not only enjoy it but also take pride in their trade.

Golfers, in turn, respect the efforts of the caddies. This is obvious when you look at the extremely friendly relationship between the professional golfer and his caddie. Golfers credit the caddie as being a major reason for their own personal success. Even the crowds at Pleasant Valley seemed to respect the caddies. People appeared timid in their approach to confront them, even more so than with the golfers. Caddies are no different than you or me. They are down to earth people.

PGA tour caddies come from all walks of life. Old and young, rich and poor, male and female, black and white. Each has his/her own reason for doing what they do. Some enjoy the travel, others love the game and feel this is their contribution to golf while still making a living. Others don't fit the "9 to 5" mold. The majority, however, just simply refuse to give it up. Golf is a great sport, and they want to continue to be a part of it.

Being a former Pleasant Valley Tournament caddie, I can appreciate what these people do. What impresses me the most is what good people they are. I have made several close friends through the PGA tours' stop in Sutton. The professional caddie is as friendly a character as you would want to meet. If you don't believe me, find out for yourself. They'll be back next year!
